

Name: _____ Date: _____

A Roman Soldier

1. Draw a design for the soldier's shield.

2. Colour the soldier correctly using the information below.

The armour and helmet would have been made from metal.

Tunics were usually red. In winter they were made of wool and from linen in the summer.

The shield was made from plywood or leather. Usually they were painted red with brown and beige details.

Sandals were worn all year and were made from leather.

The 'apron' offered some protection to the groin when in battle. It was made from leather strips decorated with metal.

What do you like about the soldier's armour?

What do you dislike about the soldier's armour?
